

Professor Gin S. Malhi is an internationally recognised psychiatrist and academic leader. He holds senior leadership roles across clinical services, academia, and global professional organisations, and has shaped psychiatric practice, research, and publishing for more than two decades.

Leadership & Management Roles

Professor Malhi has led major national and international organisations, steering strategic direction, governance, and academic excellence:

- Past President, International Society for Bipolar Disorders (2020–2023) — Oversaw global initiatives advancing bipolar disorder research, education, and clinical standards.
- Editor in Chief, The British Journal of Psychiatry (2023–Present) — Leading one of the world's premier psychiatric journals, strengthening scientific integrity and editorial innovation.
- Editor in Chief, Bipolar Disorders (Wiley, 2017–Present) — Directing the flagship journal for bipolar disorder research.
- College Editor, Royal College of Psychiatrists (UK, 2023–Present)
- Former Editor in Chief, RANZCP Journal (2010–Present)
- Former Editor in Chief, Acta Neuropsychiatrica (2006–2010)

Within the University of Sydney and Northern Sydney LHD, he has held long-standing senior management roles:

- Professor of Psychiatry, University of Sydney (2007–Present)
- Chair, Department of Psychiatry (Northern), University of Sydney (2007–Present)
- Executive Director, ARCHI, University of Sydney (2007–Present)
- Clinical & Research Director, CADE Clinic & Lithium Clinic (2007–Present)
- Head of Discipline of (Psychiatry), University of Sydney (2008–2011)

These roles reflect sustained leadership in academic governance, postgraduate training, clinical service development, and research strategy.

Research Portfolio

Professor Malhi's research program spans the breadth of mood disorders and diagnostic refinement, with particular emphasis on:

- Bipolar disorder — phenomenology, staging, treatment optimisation
- Depression & treatment-resistant depression — clinical decision support, esketamine, diagnostic precision
- Lithium therapy — monitoring, personalised dosing, and therapeutic innovation
- ADHD diagnostic validity — conceptual and clinical evaluation
- Evidence synthesis & GALENOS methodology — improving reliability and transparency in psychiatric science
- Psychiatric publishing integrity — editorial standards, scientific communication, and research quality

Professor Gin S. Malhi — Curriculum Vitae

BSc. (Hons). MB. ChB. (Manc) MSt. (Oxf) MD. (UNSW) FRCPsych (UK). FRANZCP (Aus)

He leads multiple national and international collaborations and has secured competitive funding for translational projects including esketamine implementation (Janssen IIS), cross-cultural depression literacy (USyd–NTU), and diagnostic tool development (GYMA Foundation).

Teaching & Academic Roles

Professor Malhi is a senior educator and academic mentor:

- Led postgraduate psychiatry training at the University of Sydney
- Supervised numerous PhD, MD, and postgraduate trainees
- Developed teaching programs across mood disorders, phenomenology, and clinical reasoning
- Contributed to curriculum design and academic governance at UNSW and the University of Sydney
- Editor of Sydney Medical School Textbook of Psychiatry (2024)

His teaching emphasises diagnostic clarity, evidence-based practice, and critical thinking in psychiatry.

Clinical Roles

Professor Malhi is a highly experienced clinician with more than 30 years of practice across Australia and the UK:

- Director, CADE Clinic & Lithium Clinic, Northern Sydney LHD
- Senior Consultant Psychiatrist, Royal North Shore Hospital
- Former consultant roles at Prince of Wales Hospital in Sydney, Australia and in the UK at the Bethlem & Maudsley Hospitals in London, and Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge.

He is recognised for expertise in complex mood disorders, lithium therapy, and treatment-resistant depression.

Publishing Metrics & Impact

Professor Malhi is one of the most cited psychiatrists globally:

- Highly Cited Researcher (Top 1% worldwide) — Clarivate Analytics (2018)
- >1000 publications, averaging ~30 per year
- h-index: 111
- ~44,000 citations, >3500 citations/year

His editorial leadership across multiple major journals has shaped the direction of psychiatric research internationally.

Society Membership

Professor Malhi is an active member of the following professional organisations:

- The Royal College of Psychiatrists, UK (Member and Fellow)
- The Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists (Fellow)
- The International Society for Bipolar Disorders (ISBD) - (Executive board member)
- Biological Psychiatry Australia (member)
- European Association of Scientific Editors (member)
- Global Association of Physicians of Indian Origin (Distinguished Fellow)